

Katrine Madsen

Supernatural Love

Having been nominated for a Danish Music Award two years in a row, Katrine Madsen has released a new, fascinating cd. Her exquisite skills as an interpreter are brought into focus, while her qualities as an arranger and composer are also in evidence. We consider this to be her best cd so far. She shows more daring, has matured, and her voice has increased depth and finer nuances, securing her a place in the singers' premier league.

The repertoire is varied, with such songs as the Beatles' I'll Keep You Satisfied and Can't Buy Me Love, and also Irving Berlin's I Got Lost In His Arms, and Katrine shows that she can add her own personality to these songs, be they 40, 60 or 80 years old. She does not aim at nostalgia, but interprets the songs from her own experience - and she does so with warmth, intimacy, energy and just the right dose of humour, in close interplay with a group of wonderful musicians, who take over where she lets go. Cæcilie Norby sings a duet with Katrine on the title track, Supernatural Love - composed by Katrine and with lyrics by Cæcilie.

Katrine Madsen (voc), Henrik Gunde (p), Jesper Bodilsen (b), Jonas Johansen (d) + Ulf Wakenius (g), Peter Asplund (tp), Rune Olesen (perc), Cæcilie Norby (voc), Ole Kibsgaard (g)
